How does Derma 200 work?

Treatment with the Derma 200 is applied with the InterX 1000 hand-held device. The treatment delivers gentle dynamic electrical impulses which stimulate the muscles and skin tissue of the face.

The stimulation encourages local blood circulation, which means increased blood flow to the skin. This encourages the skin tissue to rid itself of waste material and dead cells more efficiently and results in improved skin texture and often, a healthy glow.

Tests have also shown that the skin can increase the speed at which it produces its own connective tissue fibres and elastin and collagen.* Enlarged pores can be tightened and increased lymphatic drainage can help to reduce puffiness and fluid retention around the eyes.
